The University

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE-NAMED ASSOCIATION are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade. It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon.

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association; Lester L. Robinson, formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas B. Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary.

Four lots, 25x120 feet each, constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made.

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. L. PARRISH & CO.

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

PIONEER WASHER.

JAMES BRUSIE,

AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to all housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

The undersigned is now in the city of Portland, where he can be seen at Mr. O. Kilbourn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts., East side, Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same.

Odds and Ends.

What a multitude of odd incidents and singular experiences there is floating in the sea of newspaperdom! Let us dip in here and there, and bring out a specimen or two for the amusement of our readers. Here, for instance, is the story of a jealous monkey, which shows how much human nature Jocko can display, and may perhaps be taken to substantiate Lord Monboddo's theory that men, after all, are but monkeys that have lost their tails:

At Lyons, France, a ferocious monkey of large size escaped from a menagerie, and reached the provision wagon, where it commenced to regale itself. Over this animal the proprietor's daughter only had control. The proprietor seized a whip and threatened the animal, who, before receiving a blow, flew at him, threw him on his back, and tearing at his flesh, was crunching the bones of arm, when the shrieks of the wretched victim attracted the whole personnel of the menagerie, but no one among them dared to approach the beast. Suddenly the unfortunate man's daughter was inspired with an idea. She dragged a clown behind the bars of the cage, opposite the open door, and told him to kiss her. On the sound of this salutation the monkey, jealous, as many animals are, and who could not endure any mark of affection bestowed on anything but himself, and howling with rage, turned round, and, believing them to be in the cage, dashed into it in order to fly at the clown. Needless to add, the door was instantly closed and barred. The proprietor's arm had to be amputated.

Jacko's jealousy is not more absurd than the inconstancy of the sailor of whom the following anecdote is told by an English paper:

A few days ago a seaman belonging in Hull procured a marriage license, leaving his sweetheart at home, who thought it very proper he should go alone to obtain that document. Having received it he called to the house of a relative, where he met with an old sweetheart, with whom he had quarreled with five years before, and had not seen since; but in one short hour they forgot their differences, and he his second love. They arranged to be married the next morning with the very same license, the woman's name only being altered. The nuptials took place, and the bridegroom went to sea on the following day. The feelings of the deserted fair one may be imagined.

Sailors are proverbially "queer fish," and here, by the way, is a story of a strange sea-dog, all the way from Australia. The Melbourne Age says:

A remarkable amphibious animal of the seal kind, which was captured at Gillespie's Beach, about one hundred miles south of Hokitika, New Zealand, by Mr. Kilmartin, is now being exhibited in Melbourne. In appearance it presents a mixture of the dog and the fish. Its head resembles that of an English terrier, except that its ears are merely rudimentary. The body is like a seal's, and the animal propels itself upon land or in water by means of two large flippers in the forepart of its body and two smaller ones behind. Its tail is about two and a half inches long. The animal shuffles pretty quickly upon the ground, and its motion in the water is produced by rolling over, and propelling itself forward after the manner of a screw. Its cry is something like the bark of a dog, but peculiarly shrill.

This will do for a fish story, but it is not equal to the bone story which comes to us from Canada:

A boy at Hamilton, C. W., was recently attacked with a severe inflammation in one of his legs, below the knee joint. He was unsuccessfully treated for rheumatism, and made a change of doctors. His second medical attendant poulticed the leg, which suppurated, and a number of small bones made their appearance. These bones are perfectly formed and complete, and belonged to a creature of some unknown species, about the size of a full-grown red squirrel. The ribs are fully two inches in length, and bones of the leg about the same. Among the remains are two curved prongs, or feelers, terminating in a sharp point, which were evidently attached to the head of this strange animal. The remains will doubtless be secured complete, but as yet those versed in natural history have been unable to form any opinion as to the species of the creature, or to surmise how it had been introduced and lived in the muscles of the patient's leg.

We don't ask any one to believe more of the above story than they choose to, but over the sad fate of the poor crow whose adventure is told below, all should drop a tear:

A crow had perched itself between the wings of the colossal figure of Victory, which crowns the column of the Belle-Alliance Platz, at Berlin. "When it tried to fly away again, the hapless bird found that its wings had got so jammed in between the wings of the bronze Victory that escape was impossible. There it fluttered and struggled, like Sterne's starling, for some three days and nights, and, like Sterne's starling, too, it could not get out. The poor bird was evidently starving, and excited the commiseration of innumerable spectators. What was to be done? The fire brigade brought their ladders, but they were too short. To shoot it was against all police regulations, as no gun may be fired within the city walls. At last an exception was made in such an exceptional case. I do not know what official correspondence may have preceded the act, but the poor bird was officially shot and died, not in the arms, but between the wings of Victory, where I believe it still hangs as a scarecrow to other vain-glorious birds."

WONDERFUL RECOVERY OF SPEECH.—The Fort Wayne (Ind.) Gazette gives the following account of the recovery of his speech and hearing by a boy named Stanley Marshall, who lost both, in consequence of an attack of lung fever, about a year and a half ago?

A week or ten days ago, George Lloyd and others, who had for some time before taken a good deal of interest in the boy, conceived the idea of restoring his hearing by some violent shock. They fired a pistol over his head, and within a few inches of his ears, but it made no impression. Some one told him a liberal use of liquor would cure him, and to try the experiment, last Monday afternoon he pawned his pocket-book for a glass of whisky. Mr. Lloyd coming in (at Strong's eating house), and finding him tipsy, determined to carry the experiment further, gave him more whisky, until he was quite drunk, and then commenced a rubbing and shaking that shortly resulted in his hearing. He rubbed the ears of the boy until he was about as tired of the exercise as the boy was, or rather would have been, if sober. Suddenly something seemed to break loose in his chest or throat. There was a report like the popping of a cork from a bottle of mineral water, and the boy called Lloyd a fool, the first word spoken for over a year. He soon began to talk more freely, his speech coming back in broken accents, like those of a little child. He went to bed quite quite sick that night, and woke up next morning, quite stiff and sore from the harsh treatment of the night before, but able to hear and talk nearly as well as ever. The boy says that when his speech returned, it seemed as if his weight was lifted from his lungs and he felt as something in him had "busted."

The proposed annexation of West Florida to Alabama is receiving much attention in that section, and a Mobile paper says:

Now that Alabama and Florida are mere territorial subdivisions of "District Number Three," there is little room for the operation of State pride upon the question. The union of Montgomery and Pensacola by railroad, the dependence of Pensacola for future prosperity upon an intimate connection with the interior of Alabama, and her entire isolation from Middle and East Florida, all have tended to bring the question to the more favorable attention of her people.

Has anybody a nickel penny of 1858? The Washington Star says there's an active search for them, and that they are worth twenty five cents each, because they have been almost wholly withdrawn from circulation, and will be valuable by-and-by in completing collections. The penny in question will be remembered as bearing on one face the representation of a nondescript-broken bird, supposed to represent the American eagle.

LATE EASTERN NEWS.

We select the following from dispatches to the San Francisco Times:

Republican Meeting in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 17.—A Republican mass meeting was held on Saturday night in Lafayette Square. The Mayor presided, and the meeting was addressed by Representatives Kelly, of Pennsylvania, and Hamlin and Conway, of New York. Over five thousand persons were present. Various negro Ward Clubs marched to the meeting in procession, headed by music and carrying banners and transparencies. Considerable excitement prevailed as the negroes marched along cheering and shouting.

General Sheridan has removed the clerk of one of the District Courts, for the alleged issuing of fraudulent certificates of naturalization. Republicans were advocating the appointment of negro policemen, and talk of running Mr. Johnson, a prominent and extremely popular negro, for Mayor.

The Indian Expedition.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—A correspondent with Hancock's expedition says the General's mission was to feel the temper of the Indians, and ascertain which tribes were for war and which for peace, to make the necessary treaties and separate the peaceful tribes from the hostile tribes, to post more troops on the Smoky Hill and Santa Fe routes. The results of the expedition are as follows: Marched 450 miles. Of the tribes disposed to war the Sioux and Cheyennes have been found separate from their allies, the Kiowas, Arrapahoes and Camanches. A hundred thousand dollars worth of Indian property has been destroyed; Kansas is free from hostile Indians, and the Santa Fe and Smoky Hill routes are better guarded than before. General Custer is at Fort Hayes, and will remain there until grass appears, when he will commence active operations against the Sioux and Cheyennes.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The suit of Texas against various parties, with reference to Texas Indemnity bonds, issued by the United States upon her annexation, many of which were sold in New York by the Texan authorities, was argued in the Supreme Court to-day. The question whether the de facto government of Texas was competent to dispose of these bonds was mooted, and the decision really involved the status of Texas during the rebellion.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Times' special states that Colfax expresses his opinion that no meeting of Congress will be held in July. None of the Radicals now here, including Boutwell, Ashley, Butler and others, have any idea that a quorum will be found present in either branch at that time.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The Russian Legation communicates the following to Secretary Seward:

ST. PETERSBURG, May 15.—The treaty has been ratified. Bodisco carries it back immediately.

(Signed) D. GORTSCHAKOFF.

In future the postage upon all letters for whatever destination exchanged in the mails with Great Britain, will advance by a single rate for each half ounce or fraction thereof the same as upon domestic letters.

The Mobile Riot.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Herald's special says of the Mobile riot: The leader, David Files, who fired the first shot at the Chief of Police, is the only one arrested. It is said he aimed directly at Judge Kelly. He was held to bail this morning in $5,000. It is certain that the attack on the negroes was continued for a considerable distance from the scene of action, as many were shot five or six squares off. Shots were fired from the roof of a store kept by Mr. Wolf, directly opposite the stand, and from the windows of a house kept by a man named Brooks, on the corner of Royal street. It is believed here that shots were also fired from the side window of John Forsyth's house, the editor of the Register, which overlooks the stand. I cannot vouch for the truth of this, as I was in front of the window, and a ball must have struck behind me. The excitement to-day is so great that an investigation has been postponed. The Mayor and Col. Sheppard will make rigid inquiry into the matter. U. S. troops are still posted throughout the city, a squad occupying the front of the Battle House.

Miscellaneous.

CHICAGO, May 16.—A Tribune Omaha special says the Indians continue to be troublesome near Fort Sedgwick. Gen. Hancock's movement it is thought will soon drive them away.

The Eight Hour men had a public demonstration last night. It was rather a small affair. There is not much vitality left in the movement. Laborers employed by the city who have been working eight hours for eight hours' pay, have unanimously petitioned to be allowed to work ten hours for the old pay. All new work under the old system. A few discontented strikers continue to hold daily meetings, but they exclude newspaper reporters. Inflammatory harangues are made, and threats of violence are frequent.

The papers are full of reports of crime all over the country, and each day's dispatches adds to the long list of murders, suicides, arsons and criminal assaults.

NEW YORK, May 13.—A local preacher of the Methodist Church was recently mortally shot by a white man named Morris, in Sumter District, South Carolina.

The company of colored militia has been squelched in Rome, Georgia, by Federal authority.

Ex-Mayor Monroe and R. King Cutler, of Louisiana, have had an interview with the President, and urged him to countermand Sheridan's orders, and restrict his action under the Reconstruction law.

The President will be unable to visit Raleigh or any places where he has been invited to attend celebrations.

The State Department has been informed that six members of the American colony at Jaffa are on their return home.

MEMPHIS, May 14.—A serious riot took place at Brownsville yesterday in the Radical Convention. Three negroes and two whites were shot, but not fatally. Reports of the origin of the affair are conflicting. The Radicals charge it to have been the result of an organized plot to break up the Convention, while others assert it to have resulted from negro speakers' incendiary speeches, saying that every man who had held slaves ought to have his heart cut out. All was quiet at last accounts.

The Tragedy at Port Townsend.

The following account of the late tragedy at Port Townsend is taken from the Weekly Messenger, published at that place, and is fuller than the account sent us by telegraph:

About two weeks ago some of the men of the ship Southern Chief, who had shipped for the round voyage from New York via Acapulco to Puget Sound and back, left her at Port Gamble and came to this place. Here they engaged the services of Mr. J. W. Tripp as an attorney to collect what pay was coming to them; for which service they agreed to give him half, besides paying the expenses he might incur whilst doing the business. Mr. Tripp collected $190 from the master of the Southern Chief, as the balance coming to the men, and sent to them $75, as their share. These men had been boarding at the Franklin House, and drinking at the Antelope bar, and owed the proprietor of the two houses more than the sum they received for their wages. The money having fallen into the hands of the proprietor of the boarding house, and not being enough to cover the bill the men had already incurred, he of course kept the money, and told them they must go somewhere else to board. This the men did not like, and they had made up their minds to make Tripp pay to them more money. When the New World arrived at the wharf on Monday afternoon, Mr. Tripp came ashore and as he was coming up the wharf accompanied by his wife, four of the men pitched on him, tearing his clothes, and, at last, drove him on board the World. One of the men told Mrs. Tripp in a very insulting manner, as she walked ashore from the New World, whither she had been driven with her husband by the sailors, that unless Tripp paid them $50 he would never leave the wharf alive, and drove her back on board the steamer. Mr. Tripp requested the captain of the World to land him at Point Wilson; which the captain at first promised to do; but Mr. Tripp was afterwards persuaded to proceed to Victoria, and fortunate, indeed, it was for him, for we are informed that seven of the men, suspecting he would land at Point Wilson, proceeded thither to receive him. Whilst at Victoria, Mr. Tripp purchased a shot-gun with which to protect himself. At 9 o'clock on Thursday morning, on the arrival of the New World, Mr. Tripp came ashore and his brother-in-law, whom he met at the boat, proceeded up the wharf, gun in hand. Half way up the wharf four of the sailors were in wait for him, and as he advanced assumed a threatening attitude. Tripp, with his gun at half shoulder, told them to keep off or he would hurt them, whereupon the men commenced spreading out so as to surround Tripp. Lee, an Englishman, drew a knife, and as he did Tripp shot him, killing him on the spot. In the same moment Tripp shot another of the assaulters, killing him also. As soon as both barrels of the gun were discharged, Tripp "clubbed" his gun, and commenced defending himself against the third man. Tripp's brother-in-law then pulled his revolver and fired two shots at the man who was assaulting Tripp, only one of them taking effect, however. Upon this, Tripp and his brother-in-law were arrested by the authorities. On Wednesday night the sailors who had assaulted Tripp swore that they would kill him on sight—if they were hanged for it the next moment, and were advised by some of the townsfolks to let the matter drop; but they would not, and have suffered the consequences. It is thought the man whom Tripp's brother-in-law shot will recover. Tripp and his brother-in-law were both in charge of the sheriff when the New World left Port Townsend.

Since writing the above, we have learned that the man whom Tripp's brother-in-law shot has died.

The pompous epitaph of a close fisted citizen closed with the following passage of Scripture: "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." "That may be so," soliloquized Sambo, "but when dat man died de Lord didn't owe him a red cent."

FROM OWYHEE.

We have the Avalanche of the 11th inst., from which we obtain more full details of late news from the vicinity than we have heretofore present ed. We collate various items of Indian news.

About Sunday last it became evident to the ranchers on Reynolds' creek that Indians were prowling round "on business." In fact, Robert Derning, of this place, having occasion to go over to Babbington's and back on Sunday, "jumped up" two or three of the red men in the willows and rocks several hundred yards distant from the road—fired his revolver at them, waving his handkerchief in respect to their disagreeable highness, and then made double-quick time "out of that tall grass." The Indians killed a cow over there about the same time, we are informed. However, on Monday morning, Silas or Cyrus Polk and an old gentleman by the name of McKnight, concluded that they had lost some Indians from the Creek, took a rifle and Colts revolver and started in quest of an adventure. When about four miles out and, perhaps, about noon, they discovered a healthy remnant of "the lost tribes" and received a volley of lead in exchange for their researches. One ball cut about the depth of itself in the fleshy part of one of Polk's arms. The two men quickly placed a large rock between them and the Indians, which fortification covered all but their legs. McKnight was behind or rather under Polk, and the Indians nearly overhead of both. Polk turned loose on the savages with his rifle and they replied in kind. Another ball cut through Polk's sleeve and went down through both of McKnight's legs below the knee—wounding him most dangerously. Polk feels satisfied that he killed one of the Indians, if not two—having plainly seen them drag an Indian behind the rocks after one of his shots. The two men kept up the fire till nearly night and the Indians in turn either kept shooting at them or rolling stones down on and at the men in hopes of dislodging them. Polk's shins were badly bruised, but in the night when things became quiet he pulled off his boots, left his pistol with the old man, enjoined him to not be taken alive, and then started back for help. He made the trip all right and returned with assistance early next morning and took Mr. McKnight in to Babbington's where he is lying in a critical condition. The bones in one leg are very badly mashed. Owing to his age, such wounds will go very hard with him.

The Indians left before dark, owing to the attack by the Sinker creek boys, all of which Polk and McKnight were ignorant—both parties of citizens being uninformed as to the presence of each other until the next day.

Last Sunday (5th inst.) several Indians attacked Con Shea, a ranchman, on Sinker creek. No damage one way or the other. On Monday morning early, John McMahon, Catolow, Johnson and five others started in pursuit of the Indians. Found them about four miles from Ray's ranch, south of Reynold's creek. McMahon and Enos, while reconnoitering, were fired upon by the Indians, M. and E. returning the fire. The two men then fell back to within hailing distance of the others, who came up, and then all hands made a charge on the Indians. In the meantime, the party heard shooting among the rocks in a direction somewhat different, and while going for it the Indians traveled off. The shooting which diverted the attention of the men was that incident of the fight going on between Polk and McKnight and the Indians an account of which will be found elsewhere. There were, as nearly as could be counted under all circumstances, eight Indians in the band and four horses—two Indians on each horse. The boys followed them across the stage road past the canyon where the stage was taken in a few weeks ago, and returned by Ray's, on Reynold's creek, where they learned for the first time of Polk and McKnight's encounter.

There was considerable excitement in town Sunday night when the news of the attack on Sinker was received, and several citizens—among whom were Mr. Tregaskis and F. E. Ensign—started for the scene. Mr. Tregaskis being very anxious about matters on Catharine creek, after finding that things had quieted to some extent on Sinker, his party all went on to the former place—returning to town on Tuesday.

Mr. Presby informs us that on or about last Monday two horses belonging to him and two others in the same band were run off towards Reynolds' Creek by three Indians, whose moccasins tracks were plainly visible on the ranch. Mr. Presby lives upon a gulch which puts into Jordan Creek from the right side between Ruby and Booneville. The savages could not get much closer to town and keep outside the limits.

Major Hunt and command returned to Camp Lyon in the latter part of last week, after scouring over the upper Owyhee region. They discovered Indian "signs," which seemed to be making in the direction of the settlements adjacent to this place. Hunt and about forty of his men started this week to scour the Cow Creek and lava-bed country not far from Camp Lyon.

Waiting for the Railroad

Californians are exercising themselves greatly about immigration and Aid Societies almost without number have been projected or formed to bring people to that State Associations of all kinds have been proposed for this purpose,—from your solid Society composed of members of the San Francisco Board of Commerce and Presidents of Railroad and Navigation Companies, down to the Grand United Mutual Disinterested Association of Impecunious Speculators, and still the result is anything but satisfactory People in distant lands, unable to appreciate such disinterestedness, don't come —when in point of fact they ought to come and might come if they would, simply by paying their own fare Their failure to respond to the extraordinary inducements which are held out to them, must always be regarded as something entirely unaccountable. But notwithstanding everything the Aid Societies have been able to do, come they will not, and California enterprise is wasting its efforts in a scheme which is rendered futile by the strange inability of people in the Eastern States and elsewhere to comprehend their own interests They disregard the invitation of the Societies and are kept back by the paltry consideration of a few hundred dollars each, when by paying that money they could come out to California and pick "up 'rocks,'' almost anywhere, by the ton!

An Immigrant Aid Society, backed by a large capital, might be able to do something in the way of bringing population to the Pacific coast but its utmost efforts could accomplish only comparatively small results The small addition to our population that could be supplied by such means, would scarcely be noticed even in the period of ten years A better and more effective method is wanted These States and Territories are a long distance from the centres of population in the East The cost of getting here is great No Aid Society could do more than provide means for the removal of a small number of persons, and few are anxious to come when they are required to labor for and refund the money, amounting to several hundred dollars, which was paid for their passage. This coast must be drawn nearer to the Atlantic before our population can be largely increased The time required for travel must be reduced, and the expense of travel must be diminished These results will, in a few years, be attained. The Pacific Railroad is rapidly measuring its length across the continent. This will be California's great Immigrant Aid Society All others will fail. The railroad will fill California in a few years with a busy population. It will do in a decade what all other agencies combined could not accomplish in a century.

But what share has Oregon in this prospect? A share second, indeed, to that of California, but still, one that is full of encouragement and promise We hope some day to have a railroad across the continent passing through our own State; but California will have a road before we can get one For a time we must rely on that to aid us California will receive large accessions to her population; thousands will be unable to satisfy themselves there and will come to Oregon through choice or necessity, and permanently settle among us As California fills up with people, great numbers must be crowded over into Oregon, and that State cannot get any great additions to her population without giving us a full share All parts of the Pacific coast must participate in the prosperity which will thus be awakened; and though it would be vastly better for Oregon to have a road communicating directly with the East, (which we surely will have in time), yet the completion of the road to California, distant as its terminus will be from us, will nevertheless infuse a new spirit of activity into Oregon, give the State a new life and open for it a new career of prosperity It will make the construction of another road, running further north, a necessity, and when these lines are completed we shall have all the Immigration Aid Societies that we want The true wisdom for those Californians who are exercising themselves so greatly about the best means of inducing immigration, is to hasten the completion of the Pacific railroad. For the railroad we on the Pacific coast must wait. The country is waiting for it, but the waiting will not be long.

It is worthy of observation that the joy of the Copperheads over the release of Jeff Davis is not very demonstrative. The probable reason is that they are afraid to express all the joy they feel lest such manifestations of sympathy and delight should do their party an injury. Davis, while he lives, will be a power in American politics,—that is, a negative power; and when he gives his views on any question, or when those who are known to perfectly agree with him, express their opinions on any measure, people will vote in the opposite direction A short time after the election in Connecticut Davis expressed himself as delighted with the Democratic triumph. The Copperhead papers in that State were greatly exercised and confused thereby, and stammered out feeble denials of the statement Yet it was true, and the defeated party harassed and heckled their opponents with it without mercy. If Davis had only indicated his preference a week before the election, the result would probably have been entirely different It is very desirable that Davis should continue to talk in favor of his friends of the Democratic party

The Grand Council of the Union League of Alabama held a meeting in Montgomery, in April Two hundred subordinate Councils, containing 30,000 members, were represented The Grand Council denounced participation in rebellion as the highest crime known to the law, and declared that "if the pacification now proposed by Congress be not accepted in good faith by those who staked and forfeited 'their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor' in rebellion, it will be the duty of Congress to enforce that for failure by the confiscation of lands, at least of such a stiff necked and rebellious people." The Council indignantly repudiated the assertion, that there are not enough loyal men in Alabama to administer the government of the State, and declare that this falsehood is mainly promulgated by those who would make treason respectable, and retain power in the hands of rebels.

Almost from time immemorial an Association has been trying to raise a monument to Washington in the city which bears his name The poor fragment of a monument that stands there is a reproach to the country America cannot build monuments to her illustrious dead At least it would seem so for all or nearly all our attempts to raise memorials like these have failed. Efforts are making to raise monuments to Lincoln in two or three places and with some promise of success; but the work of raising the fund progresses but slowly Are Americans too busy with the living to remember to the dead?

It would not be prudent for the Copperhead papers to tell their readers of the changes of sentiment that are taking place in the South There are divers old Democrats who, if they should hear of the considerate treatment which the negroes are receiving would expire immediately, shrieking 'Negro Equality,"—"Hartford Convention,'— 'Blue Lights,'—"Black Republicans!"

Since the enfranchisement of the blacks it is clear that the term "our domestic relations," has acquired a new meaning in the South The fraternization of the whites with the blacks in that section shows that these "relations" are the negroes

The critics and the reviewers attacked Reade's last novel Griffith Gaunt without mercy Its immorality was made the subject of countless articles, and the result, (as might have been expected) has been to give it a far greater sale than that of any other work of fiction for several years So, with Swinburne's Laus Veneris the rigid moralists, instead of letting it alone wrote it into general notice People bought it, as they always will to see what it is that is unfit to read

Among the passengers who left New York for the Pacific coast on the steamer of the 11th May we noticed the names of Quincy A Brooks, Rev S H Marsh and family and other Oregonians

Consumption like the Rattle Snake, always gives warning of its approach A hacking cough, dull pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, are the indications that there is more or less irritation of the lungs. If this be neglected, and go on until pustules are formed followed by tubercles, which sometimes eat off the blood vessels, death will be the result. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the irritated parts, allay the inflammation, removing the phlegm and matter thus stopping the cough, and preventing fatal consumption For sale by all Medicine Dealers dtc

Will make Two Trips per Week to the
CITY OF ASTORIA!
Carrying Passengers at $10, the Round Trip, (Meals Included)
The Boat leaves Portland Wednesdays and Saturdays at 7½ A M Returning leaves Astoria Thursdays and Mondays at 6 o'clock A M
Every person purchasing a Passenger Ticket will be presented with one of 900 Prize Tickets, to be drawn on the 1ST DAY OF AUGUST 1867, for the following Prizes
Steamer U S GRANT, to be divided into 4 shares,
ONE BLOCK OF LOTS IN EAST PORTLAND, divided into 8 shares or one lot to the share, viz Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 Block 17, opposite the "New Columbian Hotel, and at the terminus of the proposed Suspension Bridge,
ONE GOLD WATCH, worth $100;
150 CORDS DRY FIR WOOD, in 3 shares, to be placed on the Brooklyn Wharf
The Steamer is 54 tons burthen 62 horse-power engine, propeller wheel draft of water 5 feet She is being thoroughly refitted and refurnished as a Passenger Boat The Boat will be delivered in perfect order, free from all incumbrance and Warranty Deeds made for the real estate, to the persons drawing the same Tickets can be had of C P FERRY, in Portland, where the money will be left on deposit till the prizes are drawn and delivered
Any person having a claim against me and wishing a ticket, can get an order for one by calling on me on board the boat The person drawing the gold watch can have $100 in gold coin if preferred
C P FERRY Broker R J. LADD, ex Sheriff AL ZIEBER U S Marshal, and C S. SILVER Merchant, of Portland are the Committee and Judges to direct the Drawing of Prizes The Prizes will be drawn before the 1st of August if all the tickets are taken before that time
The above liberal offer is made to the traveling public to enable the subscriber to pay his debts, and not with any reference to speculation, as all the property is valued at much less than its cost, (the Steamer alone having cost $11 000) and the price for carrying passengers to Astoria being much less than the usual fare

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The Common Council met last evening, His Honor, the Mayor in the chair. Present—Messrs Carson, Fechheimer, Lowndale, O'Connor and Rosenheim

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved

PETITIONS, REMONSTRANCES, ETC.

A petition was received from Wm. A. Lewis and eleven others, asking the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the establishment of a certain match factory in the southern part of the city, and to regulate and prescribe locations for such factories. Referred to the Committee on Fire and Water

A communication was received from Messrs Weeks & Morgan and twenty-six others, representing that hucksters and peddlers from wagons in the streets, seriously injure the business of retail dealers of the city, and asking the Council's attention to the matter. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

A petition was received from F. Bickel, asking permission to dig a water sink under the sidewalk in front of his premises, on A street between Second and Third. Referred to the Committee on Health and Police

A communication was received from Charles Lee, representing that the city owes him and Elizabeth Lee, his wife, $6 fees as witness in Recorder's court and stating that he would like to have the money; that he had applied for it several times but had never received any satisfactory answer. The communication was laid on the table, the bills having been before ignored by the Council.

RESIGNATION OF A COUNCILMAN.

A communication was received from Councilman T. J. Carter, resigning his seat in the Council, in consequence of necessary absence from the city.

On motion of Mr. Lowndale, the resignation was accepted.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

The Committee on Fire and Water, to whom was referred the petition of Vigilance H. & L. Co., to be supplied with ladders, etc., reported favorably thereupon, and on motion the report was adopted.

The same committee to whom was referred the bills of Jas. Bennett, $11, and of Smith Bros, $44 50, reported in favor of the payment of the same. Report adopted.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom was referred the petition of Mrs. Schuld'heiss for a credit upon her street assessments of $153 75, paid to street contractor, reported an ordinance providing for allowing such credit, and recommending its passage.

The Committee on Health and Police reported favorably upon the petition of certain jurors for fees in the case of the city vs. Delschneider and the city vs. John Brashard. The report was adopted.

The same committee reported in favor of paying to D. Falkland $60, to compensate for services and loss of property in the small pox case. The report was adopted, and accompanying resolution authorizing a warrant on the treasury for that purpose, was laid on the table till next week.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The bill of E. R. Zimmerman for fees as witness in several cases where the city was plaintiff, $6 80, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

BUSINESS TAKEN FROM THE TABLE.

The report from the Committee on Streets and Public Property, on the remonstrance of certain persons against the proposed improvement of North Second street, stating that such remonstrance is signed by over two-thirds of the property holders abutting upon said street, and recommending that the improvement be abandoned, was taken from the table and adopted.

READING OF ORDINANCES.

An ordinance in relation to the street assessment against the property of Mrs. Schuld'heiss, was read 1st, 2d and 3d times under suspension of the rules, and passed by ayes, all present; nays, none. It provides that she shall be credited with $153 75, paid to street contractor and that lots 5 and 8 in block 30, be sold as advertised to pay the balance of assessments against her property.

The ordinance to amend the ordinance to impose and regulate licenses, was read third time and lost by the following vote:

Ayes—Messrs. Fechheimer, O'Connor and Rosenheim—3.

Nays—Messrs. Carson and Lowndale—2.

PROPOSITIONS AND MOTIONS.

On motion of Mr. Lowndale the City Surveyor was instructed to make estimates of the cost of improving Second street, according to the notice published, and also as to cost of drainage.

On motion of Mr. Lowndale the Surveyor was instructed to make like estimates of the proposed improvement of Alder street.

On motion of Mr. Rosenheim Dr. Glitner was admitted within the bar, to make a statement relative to his claim for professional services in the small-pox case.

Dr. Glitner explained that when called upon by the City Marshal he had stated to the Marshal that as he would ... rily lose practice by attending upon a small pox patient, he should charge double fees, and the agreement was made with that understanding. He had never had the small pox, nor had any of his family, and he had incurred great risk. His charges were only double the usual fees, and were not then so large as were paid in San Francisco and at the Dalles. He said it was the custom to charge double for such services. He had suffered by it, an actual falling off of his practice during that month, over $400.

Marshal Hoyt being called upon to make a statement, said that he had agreed with Dr. Glitner to attend the case at double fees.

On motion, the claim was referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

The Council adjourned.

A FISH STORY.—A passenger by the Okanagan, from Astoria, Tuesday, says that steamer left Astoria bright and early Tuesday morning, everything being lovely and all hands in excellent spirits. Arriving at Westport, the steamer took on board the saw-mill and a considerable portion of its lumber, a cooper shop and nearly all the barrels belonging to it, and proceeded up the river to the first salmon fishery, where she discharged the greater part of the aforesaid saw mill, lumber, cooper shop and barrels. The said passenger who must have been in high o'd spirits, inspected the salmon vats and found about 300 barrels of salmon, all ready to flop into the aforesaid barrels and head themselves up; thence the steamer hunted up the river and down a slough till another big fishery was discovered, with ten nice vats full of about 600 to 800 barrels of salmon; here the balance of the barrels discharged themselves, with a little assistance from the boat's crew; the same crew assisted on board a Alonzo number of salmon which had already barreled themselves. We may remark here, parenthetically, that the passenger was still in spirits. Thence the steamer came on past Reed & Co.'s fishery, where the passenger discovered two salmon nets holding themselves in hospitable readiness to receive as many of the finny tribes as might pass that way; called at Oak Point and took on the post-office (passenger in good spirits) done up in a gunny bag; landed at ... and took on another saw mill and a tight smart chance of lumber; thence to Portland, arriving at 1 o'clock A. M., Wednesday. This story sounds a little Munchausenish, but the passenger aforesaid is responsible for it. We may add that the saw mill landed between two pol ... mes, while the passenger and several other gentlemen from Westport, Oak Point, etc., all still in excellent spirits, scrimmaged around the city till they accidentally found the Western Hotel, where they abide at the present writing.

YE HURDIES DANCE.—A Victoria paper thus relates the experiences of a party of "hurdy" girls: "Last summer, a party of five Dutch dancing girls, popularly known as "hurdies," while on their way to the Boise mines, where they had engaged to "trip the light fantastic," in a lager beer cellar, were captured by the Blackfoot Indians and conveyed to their village. It appears, from the statement of a mountaineer, (published in the British Columbian,) that the lives of these wretched creatures have been spared by their dusky captors, and that as the daughters of Herodias danced before her royal uncle and pleased him, so these poor captives dance before the hoary-headed monarch of the Blackfeet, and not only please him but have so wrought upon his superstitious feelings that they are treated with kindness and respect amounting almost to veneration. Carefully guarded and attentively waited upon, they spend their days in sewing and chatting at the foot of some shady old oak tree, watching the warriors cleaning and repairing their arms, the women tanning deer skins and the papooses ducking and diving in the clear limpid stream that flows past the camp. But as night approaches and the dew settles on the stream, thick as fog, the scraping of "cat gut" is heard and wearily they retrace their steps to perform the nightly toil of "dancing for life." Will these poor girls ever regain their liberty, or will they live shut out from the world until civilization by them be forgotten? is a question which time alone can answer

PORTLAND.—"Umatilla," the correspondent of the Columbia Press, has the following allusion to Portland, in a letter of May 7th, from Umatilla: "Ever since gold was discovered at Oro Fino and Florence, business has steadily increased. From a village that Portland used to be, a city has been developed, the small frame buildings have given way to fine substantial brick houses which would adorn any city; their streets, formerly but a succession of mud holes, have been improved to such an extent as to vie with any in the civilized world. In fact, Portland from being a small town and trading mart, has become the business head quarters of the whole upper country with a commerce second only to San Francisco on this coast."

ASTORIA LOT DRAWING.—Mr. C. P. Ferry has furnished us the following names of residents of Portland who drew lots in the Astoria scheme, together with the values attached: T. A. Davis, Geo T. Myers, J. McHenry, one lot each, valued at $150 each; C. P. Ferry one lot, $100; Dr. Ellis, one lot, $300; Geo. McCombe, N. Walker, Lewis Gross, Cris Taylor, Robt. King, Chas Cardinell, each one lot, $50 each; Mary Mason, six lots, Wm. D. Carter, two lots, and J. M. Gilman four lots, each valued at $50. There are some others of Portland who drew lots, but their names have not been ascertained. Mr. Ferry says the deeds are ready at his office for delivery. Chas. Binder of Astoria was the lucky man who drew the ...tted, valued at $5,000.

A CAUSTIC ON HARPER.—An up-country paper with a "large and increasing circulation" of perhaps three hundred copies, demolishes Harper's Magazine thusly: "Its silly, vulgarity hideous deformity, vulgar inanities, five-point literature, and hell born imagination appear upon every page. Beside its pages, the vicious Parisian mysteries shine with a virtuous light." We are sorry for the Harpers—their magazine is ruined.

A HEAVY JOB.—Workmen were employed, yesterday, under the direction of Mr. Brooks, in moving the P. T. Co.'s warehouse—a building 62 by 101 feet, and very heavy of frame. It was however done with considerable dispatch, by resting the building upon greased ways and applying jack-screws to push it forward

CONVOCATIONAL SERVICES AT TRINITY CHURCH.—The convocation of the Protestant Episcopal Church, within the missionary jurisdiction of Oregon and Washington, will be opened this evening by divine service, and an address from the Bishop, at 7 and 7½ o'clock, in Trinity Church.

THE FIDELITER.—A private telegram says the Fideliter left Victoria Tuesday morning. She will probably reach here this morning.

FOR SITKA.—The Fideliter is advertised this morning to sail on Friday evening for Sitka, via Victoria.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The Montana will sail for San Francisco on Saturday next.

DEER FOR THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—A couple of deer—a buck and doe—came down on the Senator yesterday, having been caught near Eugene City, and destined for the Sandwich Islands. When Messrs McCully, Patton, and others, of the Oregon party returned from the Islands last winter, they brought an order from some grandee who owns a park, for a pair of deer and these were procured for, and are to be sent to him. It is said that there is not one of these animals on the Islands, a few taken out some years ago having been destroyed by dogs. Dr. McBride says the Islands have no frogs, raccoons, foxes, opossums, nor any of several other semi-domestic animals, which he mentioned. These seem to belong exclusively to continents, or to islands which are near to, or connected in winter time with continents by ice.

RETURNED.—The gallant captain who has so long and fearlessly "ploughed the raging main" between here and Oregon City—Baughman is his name—returned last evening from a two week's visit to ye country of headwaters, where he has been luxuriating upon milk and honey, (the latter, figuratively) dutch cheese, venison and other seasonable vegetables. The captain—always a good looking man—comes back decidedly improved in appearance, and with as large a stock of good nature as is possible for a man of his size to tote.

TELEGRAPH LINE BROKE DOWN.—The masts of the Crosby, in tow by the Senator, yesterday afternoon, came in contact with the telegraph wire where it is suspended across the river, just below Milwaukie, and broke it down. When the Crosby was towed up, a few days since, her masts touched the wire but without doing any injury. The Senator, yesterday, towed her close along shore to avoid touching the line, but though her topmasts were down, the line hung too low, to admit the passage without contact.

CONCERT BY THE PIXLEYS.—The Pixley sisters, late of Victoria, will give a vocal and instrumental concert tonight at Oro Fino Hall. They are three young ladies, aged respectively, 8, 11 and 14 years, but their performances are well spoken of by the press of California, Victoria and British Columbia, where they have been concerts ... for some time. The concert will close, to-night, with an entirely new and laughable "Chinese Dance," by the three sisters, in character.

GOING EAST.—Put. Smith, who has been a resident of Portland for the last six years, the most of that time engaged in the brokerage business, will leave with his family on the next steamer, designing to settle in Omaha City, Nebraska, where he will re-establish himself in the same business. Everybody knows Put, and everybody will wish him and his family a safe voyage east, and success in their new home.

THE MATCH CHESS GAME.—The third game in the chess match between the Portland Library Association and the Germania Literary Society, commenced last evening, the Germanias to have the first move. The match has been so changed that the winner of the first three, instead of five, games, is to be declared victor. Each Society has now one game.

RECORDER'S COURT.—In the Recorder's Court, yesterday, Wm. McDonald for being drunk and disorderly in a saloon on North Front street, was fined $20 and cost, but being flat broke, was sent to jail for ten days. Margarett Phillips pleaded guilty to a charge of keeping open a tippling house for traffic on Sunday, and was fined $5, and costs

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Senator from Oregon City, Wednesday, May 22: 4 cases books, 1 plow, 1 bale mdse, 1 pr deer, 244 bags wheat, 461 bags feed, 1,402 qr sks flour, 3 boxes, 3 hf bbls, 1 box eggs, 16 pkgs furs, 2 cases mdse, 1 cow and calf, lot of oak timber and lot of household goods.

SALMON.—John O'Connor, on First street, between Washington and Alder, has on hand a lot of "Columbia river spring salmon," put up by H. N. Nice, at Oak Point. They are in one hundred pound casks, and are about as nice as salmon are ever found.

DOING WELL.—We are glad to learn that Mr. James Heath, whose elbow was seriously fractured by a fall, Monday evening, is doing quite well. Contrary to information given us late that night, the limb was properly set the same evening.

TREASURE RECEIPTS.—The treasure receipts from the Upper Columbia are exceedingly light just at present. Wells, Fargo & Co. received, yesterday, about $3,000.

A NEW ESTABLISHMENT.—Messrs. Ouimette & Harris are now opening a stock of dry goods, millinery and cloaks, which we advise our lady friends to examine. They will find Mr. Ouimette, who was so long and favorably known in the "City of Paris Store," on hand to attend to their calls. See the new advertisement. d1t

HARD TIMES AND WORSE COMING.—The fact of hard times is impressing itself on the mind of every man in Oregon. The fact is, however, somewhat palliated, by the fact that clothing can be bought at Barman Bros at prices within every man's means. People of the interior counties can save money by purchasing at Barman Bro.'s Salem clothing store under charge of Mr. Bachman.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—From and after this day the well-known FRENCH LAFAYETTE RESTAURANT will serve a first-class table at the reduced price of Seven Dollars per week.

"THE COLORS FOR ME."—That is what every lady says who has used the FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens. The fact plainly is that no other dyes have the slightest show where these are about. Sold by Smith & Davis.

WM. KOEHLER,
DENTIST.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE removed to the South-west corner of FRONT and YAMHILL Streets, opposite E. J. Northrup's Hardware store.
Something New in Dental Surgery.
Extracting teeth by Dr. Richardson's apparatus, with Ether or Rhigolene Spray, is local in its application, the tooth and surrounding parts only becoming insensible to pain. Those suffering from bad teeth can now have them removed free from pain and without the effects of inhaling chloroform, ether or nitrous oxide (laughing gas)
N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last 6 years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First-Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the Office.
Dental Consultation and Advice Free of Charge to all.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER,
after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Sting of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS

Have been of great service in making people healthy, and keeping them so. They should be found in every household

They give tone to the Stomach, vigor to the body, and remove dark doubts and unhappy feelings from the mind, they relieve pain and fortify the whole system against the attacks of disease.

There is nothing better to take "for the Stomach's sake" than the PLANTATION BITTERS.

They cure Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Indigestion, Drowsiness, Headache, Pain in the Side, Liver Complaint, and Rheumatic Pains, with magical power.

A good effect is felt at once upon making the first trial. No change of diet is necessary. Eat the best you can get and all you want. Follow our directions and you wi soon feel

WELL, STRONG AND HEARTY.

A great many side hits are being made at the Plantation Bitters, by a score or two of disinterested friends who have endeavored to imitate or counterfeit them. It's all of no use. The people won't be imposed upon. The Plantation Bitters are increasing in use and popularity every day, and "that's what's the matter." They are the same sized bottle, and made just as they were at first, and will continue to be, or we shall stop making them.

They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhoea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. The Recipe and full Circular are around each bottle. Clergymen, Merchants, and persons whose sedentary habits induce weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, liver complaint, constipation, &c., will find immediate and permanent relief in these Bitters. But above all, they are recommended to weak and delicate females and mothers.

They are sold by all respectable merchants. See that each bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork and steel-plate side label.

Beware of refilled bottles. See that the stamp has not been tampered with. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon is a swindler and impostor, and should be immediately reported to us.

Barnes' Magnolia Water.

A toilet delight! The ladies' treasure and gentlemen's boon! The "sweetest thing" and largest quantity. Manufactured from the rich Southern Magnolia. Used for bathing the face and person, to render the skin soft and fresh, to prevent eruptions, to perfume clothing, &c.
It overcomes the unpleasant odor of perspiration.
It removes redness, tan, blotches, &c.
It cures nervous headache and allays inflammation.
It cools, softens and adds delicacy to the skin.
It yields a subdued and lasting perfume.
It cures musquito bites and stings of insects.
It contains no material injurious to the skin.
It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.
Try the Magnolia Water once and you will use no other Cologne, Perfumery, or Toilet Water afterwards.

Mustang Liniment.

OVER A MILLION DOLLARS SAVED!

Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment. It soon effected a permanent cure."
J. L. DOWNING.
Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1859.

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensable article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men have used it for Burns, Bruises, Sores, Rheumatism, &c., and all say it acts like magic. J. W. HEWITT, Foreman American, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The sprain of my daughter's ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.
Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865. ED. SEELY."

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing U. S. Stamp of DEMAS BARNES & Co. over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone-plate label. Look closely!

Lyon's Katharion.

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents hair turning gray and falling off.
It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.
This is just what Lyon's Katharion will do. It is pretty—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the car load, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it.
E THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

Lyon's Extract Ginger.

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere at 50 cents per bottle. Ask for "LYON'S" PURE EXTRACT. Take no other.

CAUTION—See that the private U. S. Stamp of Demas, Barnes & Co. is over cork of each bottle. None other is genuine.

Lyon's Flea Powder.

DEATH TO FLEAS.—It is well known that Lyon's genuine Magnetic Powder will perfectly destroy everything in the shape of fleas, ticks, bed-bugs, roaches, &c.; that it is perfect poison to the insect tribe, but strictly harmless to the human species and domestic animals. The genuine has the signature of E LYON, and the private stamp of DEMAS, BARNES & Co. Anything else of this kind is an imitation or counterfeit. Any druggist will procure the genuine if you insist you will have no other.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Life-Weary

The day is fading, dull and gray
Adown the shadowy depths of the west
And I wish that my life would fade away,
That my soul might be at rest,
For the glorious dreams that the past did hold
Are as forgotten forever from me,
And the friends of my youth lies still and cold,
Down on the treacherous sea

The earth is dark and drear to view,
As it is lost the brightsome celestial glow
That it were when my life was fair and now,
In the joy its long ago,
And my heart thrilled as I used to thrill
At the mighty song of the wild old sea
While the laughing brook and the murmuring rill
Chant now in sadness unto me

The wind is that once so soft and low
Sang their anthems grand in the deep dim woods,
Moan drearily, fraught with grief and woe,
From the snow-chained solitudes
Soon while the day faileth dull and gray,
Adown the shadowy slopes of the west,
I would that my life too might fade away,
That my soul soul might be at rest

American Humor

[New York Correspondence of the London Spectator.]

A somewhat thorough examination and comparison of the writings of the humorists of the Old England and the New has led me to the conclusion that there is no notable difference between them, and none at all which is not the result of slight differences in dialect—for instance, the Yankee and the cockney, the negro and the Irish—and in the circumstances of the writers. The difference is not in spirit, but in mere form and subject-matter. The discovery of a peculiarly American wit or humor I cannot but regard as attributable to that rather fidgety craving on both sides of the water, for that wonderful new "American" coming man or thing of which vain longing Mr Carlyle's question and Mr. Emerson's silence are almost equal manifestations. When an "American" trait of humor must needs be found in the use of the numeral 4 instead of the preposition for because such disrespectful treatment of an august numeral is a manifestation of the "American" lack of reverence, (which criticism I have seen in one of the London articles upon Artemus Ward), I am confirmed in my opinion that the "Americanism" of our humor is found only because it is sought with such sensitive expectation. For the truth is that this use of 4 is merely the result of an attempt to make fun by painfully sought out blunders in spelling. If it is humorous and "American" to write 4 instead of for, how much more humorous and how intensely "American" it would be to write about the 42do of our soldiers, and the 11ed bread of the Hebrews! Much of our Yankee humor is based upon exaggeration. So is much of Shakespeare's. When Falstaff says that he is a man "of continual dissolution and thaw," whom Benedick says of Beatrice that "if her breath was as terrible as her terminations she would infect to the North Star," what did they do but exaggerate, like a pair of Yankees as they were? English humor, particularly that in which you and we have a common heritage, is full of such exaggeration.

Serious as we seem, and as we are, we are fond of making fun, and often relieve our feelings under adverse circumstances in that way when other people would grumble. I have seen negotiations of some importance opened and carried on far toward a conclusion, in series of repartees—not very brilliant, I must confess—but when the clinch came, with it came sobriety. Much of our oratorical bombast is uttered by men who are in earnest, and who think that bombast is eloquence, but not a little is mere humorous or whimsical exaggeration, which is so understood by the hearers, and which yet is spoken and listened to with unmoved countenance on both sides. Mr. Lincoln's remark in one of his State papers—a Message, I believe—that certain gunboats were of such light draught that they could float "wherever the ground was a little damp," caused remark in England; and indeed it was not dignified, but it attracted very little attention here, because we are accustomed to such a way of speaking, even when we are in earnest; and also because the joke was none of Mr. Lincoln's, but a mere adoption by him of an exaggeration current here for twenty years and more. I can remember it use for at least as long a time as that. It was first applied, not to gunboats, but to the huge Hudson river steamers, which, although between two and three hundred feet long, and having paddle-wheels thirty feet in diameter, were built of such light draught that every stroke of their paddles seemed to lift them over the water, instead of pushing them through it. I heard a story many years ago, of one of those boats, which could go "most anywhere where it was a leetle misty," that she avoided an obstacle in the river by passing in the early morning over a river side meadow while a heavy dew was on the grass; but that the sun rising before she was quite over, she came near being left high and dry by the captain's presumption. One of the most characteristic manifestations of this exaggeration, carried to the utmost of whimsical extravagance, is the story told by a Yankee of a very powerful machine invented by a friend of his to draw teeth. It was tried upon one man, and the tooth wouldn't come; "cause ye see his teeth was so druffed tight inter his system. So they tied him inter the cheer, an drawed, an drawed, an drawed; an suthin had to come; so they drawed his hull natomy right out my him, an left his flesh in a heap in the cheer."

But more peculiar to us than this extravagant exaggeration, which, as I have said, is in fact not peculiarly ours, is a certain dry, logical humor, which is usually put into the months of rogues. I was told of a cashier of a "real dog bank" in Indiana that being called upon in specie paying days to cash a few hundred dollars of his own notes, he replied "I should be very glad to pay you the cash, but it's against the law." The note presenter looked in wonder. "Why, don't you see, the Banking Law prescribes that every bank shall keep on hand in coin at least fifteen per cent. of its issues. Now, I've got the fifteen per cent. according to law." We sometimes set out a humor that is somewhat peculiar. A Mrs. L. H——— (the story is true,) mistaking the meaning of the maxim that taxation without representation is tyranny, and declaring that she is unrepresented because she has no vote, refuses to pay taxes. She is ordered by the county authorities to appear on the highway in person or by proxy, and work out the tax. Obedient to the summons, she appears on the highway in person, leaning on a fire shovel, to the great disgust of the roadmaster. Consequently, much disturbance between Mrs H——— and the county authorities, in which, it being of a verbal nature, she had the better. But the tax will be collected by process of law, if necessary, and Mrs. H——— will be allowed the free use of her tongue and the fire shovel in their proper places; for this is a land both of law and liberty. There is a kind of humor not uncommon here, which prepares a trap into which a victim is suddenly precipitated. It is merely a variety of what you and we, in slang, both call "a sell." One of our stump speakers, some years ago, at a meeting where it was a great point to conciliate the Irish vote, was led by his love of a good thing to peril his party and himself. He had been handling the Native American party very roughly (in earnest,) and then went on "Who dig all our canals? Irishmen! [Applause.] Who build all our railroads? Irishmen! [Great applause.] Who builds all of our jails? Irishmen! [Tumultuous applause.] Who fill them? Irishmen!" The descent upon the trap was so sudden that the speaker escaped by precipitate flight before the rush at the staging. A short time since, two young ladies well known to me were holding high converse over the virtues of a certain new dress. "And does it fit well?" asked one. "Fit? as I'd been melted and poured in." I was not present, but I know as well as if I were that the girl of seventeen said this with no particular intention of being funny, but merely because it occurred to her as a good way in which to express the admirable set of her gown. And that, without intending or knowing it, she took her place among "American" humorists. Of all the kinds of humor in vogue here, that, if it be humor, is the only one that seems to me peculiar to A YANKEE.

The literary activity in this country at the present time is remarkable. We saw, the other day, in the private office of one of our prominent book publishers, three towering piles of manuscript volumes which had been forwarded to the house in the course of a fortnight! When it is considered that we have more than twenty publishing houses of prominence in this city, and that each of them could probably show a harvest of equal magnitude, the immense amount of book-writing that is done may be partially estimated. But only partially, for Boston, Philadelphia, Hartford and other cities, possess publishing houses that rival those of New York, and all of them doubtless have constantly accumulating piles of manuscript seeking for publication. Of course, not one in a score of the books offered are published, or can be published. This is hard on the poor writers, but were it otherwise it would be harder still on the poor readers. We may remark, also, that the scarcity of magazine writers is no less remarkable than that of book writers. We are informed by the editor of one of our popular magazines that he receives from 200 to 300 contributions every month, while the limits of his magazine prevent him using more than a dozen out of the whole. We are almost afraid to say—when we consider what may be the result of our remark—that the magazine editor referred to complains of the real scarcity of good poems and stories. Most that are sent him are, in his opinion, atrociously bad—though of course their authors would not agree in this judgment. But we suspect he is right.—New York Times.

Nasby Considers the Situation and is not Satisfied with It

POST OFFIS X ROADS,
(Wich is the Stait of Kentucky).
March 25, 1867

"Backerd, turn backerd oh time in your flite," is the fust line uv a song wich I heerd not long since. Wood that time coed perform that back sekshun leap and git us all back where we was six years ago. But time can't. Time is a perpetual moshen wich must go on, and on, and wich can't never retrace her steps.

The situashun ain't pertickerly agreeable just now. It hezn't a joocy look, nor does it promise an improvement in the future. The confidence uv the Dimocrisy uv Kentucky is shaken to the extent that its lost its equilibrium, and totters to its centre. When it falls, I shel be found under the ruoins. The passage of the Military law may be ackn to be the last feather wich really ought to break the Kentucky camel's back. It is the deepest and finishest stab at constitoshnel liberty and eqkal rites, inasmuch as it not only blasts forever the hopes uv re-establishin slavery, but gives the nigger all the rites and privileges enjoyed by white men. We, who are chiefly interested, are not to be consulted in the matter. Federal hirelins, whose very presence is pizon to the people of these Staits, are to be quartered onto us to see that "justis"—what holler mockery!—is done to em, the Government established by Andrew Johnson is overturned if they don't play 2d fiddle to the satraps and accept the constoushnel amendment, wich perhibits them whe wux our champions in the late effort to destroy a Government wich we batid, from takin hold uv it again and runnin it. Wux there ever sich a mixture uv injustis and perseripshen? Wux there ever sich severity? Wux there ever sich a lack uv magnanimity? And all this time where is Andrew Johnson? He vetoed these bills, but wherefore? He knowd that the Rump Congress hed in majority uv two-thirds, and cood pass em over his veto; why then, when they set his authority at defiance, didn't he rise in his might and disperse em? Where, too, wux the Democrisy uv the North? Where are they in this crisis when our dearest rites—their greatest care—is being ship rocked on the iron bound rocks uv despotism? Where are they, I say? Why don't they rally as they threatened and demand that Johnson shell hurl the levelers from their usurped seats and restore peace on sich terms as we shel consider eikitable to the wunst happy but now distracted country? Alas? they hevn't time. I see them who breathed so much vengeance and slawtrin afore Johnson had offices to dispose uv a negliectin us and a runnin about gittingi signatoers to a applicashen for a Post offis, and hollerin to us as they ketch their breath, "Accept the conclishens—git back into the Yoonion that we may elect the President in 1868 who'll give us all the patronage," their noosepapers all shreek, "Accept and git back into the Yoonion that we may elect the next President who'll give us all the patronage." And that ain't the worst uv it. Them wich we bought up with appointments dsklivered on a sudden that a Abolisha Senit hed to confirm em, and to sekour that hev gone back onto us. Custer is a shinin example. Wilcox is another, and I mite mention hundreds uv others who hav slid back in the same manner.

Troy wux taken by the stratogy uv the Greeks, who exposed a wooden horse, in the bowels uv wich wux concealed armed men, which the verdant Troys pulled inside their gates. Andrew Johnson wux the wooden horse wich wux sent into our camp by the Abolishists, and the offices wux the armed men in his bowels. They hev bin our ruoin. So long ex they wux in the dim distance, the Democracy wux hungry and foreshus and capable uv almost anything—so shin ex they got em they become quiet ex lambs. The Postmaster who holds a commishun sez to himself, "Where fore shol I bust the Government under wich I hev a place? Kin I get another under the new one?" and he yells to us, "Accept the terms." We ca[illegible] the camp uv the enemy, but are demoralized by the plunder we found. It's the old trick over agin, these offices, which the white men yoost to play onto the Injin's, to wit: evacuatin a position and leavin a barrel uv whisky behind, knowin that the Injin instincts, like them uv a Kentucky Dimokrat's, wood lead him to get blind drunk and make him a easy prey to the scalpin knife. The offices wux the whisky which intoxicated our braves, and our skelps, so to speek, hungs at the belts uv our enemies. Sumner hes many, Thad. Stevens hes many, and Butler is a gatherin uv em with a rapidity wonderful to behold.

But wat marks the demoralization uv the Dimocrisy the most, is the folleein extract wich I cut from the New York World, wunst our trustid orgin. I hev not the heart to rewrite it. I paste the slip onto the paper, hence I am not responsible for sich errors uv orthography and igrammar ex may be discovered into it. Here it is:

"As regards the popular notion of the odor of the negro, it may be positively stated that he, in this respect is like the white—a clean negro being free from it, and a foul one cursed by it."

If this be troo—of the nigger don't stink, then Neab got tite and wux cust in vane—then Paul sent back Onesimus for nothin and Hager is uv no more interest to the Dimocrisy than any other female who has bin ded several thousand years. The Dimocratic party wux built upon this stink, and if that corner stun is knocked out, the templo falls and buries all beneath its ruoins, who are sheltered under it, uv whom I am the obcefest and liviest among ten thousand.

At one fell swoop the wind is knockt out uv the sales uv the Northern Dimocrisy. Wat is the nigger now to them af he does not stink? "Popler noshen," indeed! Truely, it wux a popler noshen. That stink led hundreds uv thousands uv Democrats by the nose. That "nuder," en the writer styles it, wuz our best holt, and one wich wux everything to us. That stink wux all that elevated the Demokrat over the nigger—that wux our mark of soupeiority. We, at times, wux not uv the precise odor uv Nite-bloomin serious. A Democratic mass Convenshun, when in a tite room, with two stoves in it, wuz not the most odorous gathorin in the world, but we thanked God continyoually that the smell wich arlz ez the room got hot wuz not the peculiar aroma uv the nigger, and we wux comforted. But this writer dosses the whole thing—the whole difference between the nigger and a Democrat—to a matter uv color and cleanliness. Wat heresy! Wat ictionaclasm! (this last word meanin, I believe, idol breakin or suthin uv that sort.) If this be troo, in the nite time a nigger with his feet washed is better than a Demokrat! Ker one, now, I care not of Dr. Cummins' "Last Warnin City" be troo-ly the last. I'm sorry that he rooted his house for ninety-nine years, cn it hev a tendency to de stoy my faith in his belief that the world is about peggin out. The sooner Gabriel blows his horn the better I shel be sodded.

Here agin this matter of state offis comes in. The Dimocrasy of New York see that nigger suffrage is inevitable, and to sekoor their share uv it they're biddin in time, forgetin that while they're achievin a temporary success on that side of the circle we're locsin all control uv the nigger on this side. Wat did the South over care for Dimocratic successes, coptin ez it bolstered up their niggers?

I'm discouraged. I see afore me trouble. I see Dit one or two streaks uv life on my horizon. Ohio won't let her niggers vote no how, and so in other Staits are in the same fix, and possibly this sekshon may be the sign of returnin reason. Ohio may after all be the rock agin wich the waivs uv fanatakism may beat in vain, and conservatism, gatherin strength there, may finally assert itself elsewhere. May the Lord send it, for of this thing goes on I'm a lost and ruoined man.

CONTENTMENT.—There are a hundred successful men where there is one contented man. I can find a score of handsome faces where I can find one happy face—happy in all weathers, and radiant with the sunshine of the heart. I can never find a score of working, zealous Christians where I can encounter a single Christian who under the ever-brooding love of God, sits as a robin does on its bough, singing and swinging, without one trouble in its heart, or one discord in its minstrelsy. A downwright contented Christian is rare, and all the more attractive for his rarity. What did Paul mean when he said, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content?" He meant that he was perfectly willing to be just where God placed him, and to do just what God told him, and to suffer just what God laid on him, and to work out through manifold pains and persecutions, his mission to the race. He knew how to be abased and how to abound—how to be full and how to be hungry. He was not content without work, but content in his work.

QUITE IKKY.—Jones—"Well to give you an idea of the amount of correspondence our house does, we spend $100 a month for ink alone!"

Brown—"Why, we use twice that much! and yet we don't cross our T's or dot our I's!"

A gentlemen who takes common sense views of things, being recently asked his opinion of a poetic individual, replied, "Oh, he is one of those men who have soarings after the infinite, and divings after the unfathomable, but who never pay cash."

SENSIBLE.—When a laboring man toils six days, does he think what a confounded idiot he is to guzzle the proceeds of his week's labor on Sunday? Is he proud of his contribution to the horses, diamonds, dinners and demi monde of sports and gin sellers? Reflect.

DIVORCE UNDER FRENCH LAW.—The French law does not allow divorces, or rather the Catholic Church does not, but those who separate must still appeal to the law, and conform to some prescribed rules. By so doing it becomes just the same as a divorce in other countries, but they can not marry again, and neither party can have civil rights after they are five year old. The girls are placed in a convent and the boys at school. If the wife demands the separation and is such she must still support her husband and children. They often remain on speaking terms and meet in society. We have thus seen persons, married, afterwards each other, shake hands and converse pleasantly, though having such other.

In Russia the offending party is forbidden to marry, the other can do so if it pleases him or her.

The French are very scrupulous about appearances, and a woman who lives nominally with her husband retains her position though all the world may know that she does not deserve it. But as soon as her husband casts her off, everybody else does, and it is about the same if she leaves him though in both cases she is always called by his name. They are so many that they form a class at Paris, and it is this class which gives the reputation to Parisian society of immorality. They are left alone with the freedom never allowed to those who have not been married, they are grandfathered whether guilty or not they become rich, and at last fall into the vices of which they were perhaps at first falsely accused. Women of other nations in the same position resort to Paris on the principle that "misery loves company," and to bury themselves from the sight of friends, and thus their name is legion, of which Americans are beginning to form a corps. More than one rich husband we have seen spend twenty thousand dollars in Europe to purchase misery for the rest of his life. Still they come.

ONE OF HIS "LITTLE SPECKS".—When Jacob Barker was a clerk to Mr. Hicks, of New York, he early displayed that peculiar aptitude for speculation which subsequently distinguished his career as a merchant. One day, Mr Hicks was ascending the stairs in full view of a lot of soap which had been very long on hand, and remarked,

Jacob, why does thee not sell that soap?" The reply was, "for the want of an applicant. I will purchase it at eight cents if thee will give me four months credit and allow me to send it as an adventure to the Havana." Mr Hicks replied, in his hurried manner, "take it, take it, I am tired of the sight of it."

It was shipped by a fast schooner, commanded by Capt. Daniel Waterman, about sailing for the Havana, at the time when the British were capturing and sending into New Providence all vessels in that trade, depriving the inhabitants of their accustomed supplies. Capt. W. returned safely in six weeks, bringing back fifty cents per pound in specie for the soap. The money was brought to the office, and Jacob was engaged in counting it, when Mr Hicks, coming in from breakfast, inquired, "What's all this?" The reply was, "Money for the soap, and I am now ready to pay for it, although not due for more than two months." Mr. H. appeared quite pleased with his young clerk's success and passed on. This, it may be presumed, is one of what Jacob would call his "little specs."

AFTER HIM.—A couple of respectably dressed young women were a few days ago passing along one of the streets of Louisville, Kentucky, when they were met by a well dressed young man. One of the girls accosted him, and he stopped and spoke to her. Some words passed between them, when the girl said in a very loud voice—"Are you going to marry me?" The young man answered something in the negative, as the girl immediately caught him by the throat, and as he struggled to get loose, tore off his collar. The other girl then attacked him, and as he turned to go away, they each gave him a vigorous kick in the rear, and off he went. They walked away in the opposite direction, and so the affair ended.

A man had received a large lot of lobsters, fresh and lively, when a boy stood looking at the critters, accompanied by his dog. "Suppose you put your dog's tail between the lobster's claws" said the man. "Agreed," said the boy. The dog was extracted from the claws, and the dog's tail inserted. Away went the dog off home, howling at the squeeze his tail got from the lobster. "Whistle your dog back, you young scamp" said the man. "Whistle your lobster back," cried the boy, and unequivocated.
